

SHIGIN(詩吟)

詩吟 (Recitation of Chinese poems and -)

During the late Edo period, when reading Chinese poems, they uniquely melodized them at some of the private schools, which is the direct origin of the present-day Shigin.

Shigin is one of Japan's traditional performing arts and it is as popular as those traditional arts like Noh, Kabuki, tea ceremony, flower arrangement and so on.

Many universities across Japan have traditional Shigin clubs.
